Dear Prime Minister,

Only you can break the Bill C10(b) deadlock!

I am writing with an urgent request for your assistance with Bill C10(b). The fate of the Bill-the animal cruelty amendment to the Criminal Code-hangs in the balance.As of June 19th, the House of Commons and the Senate are deadlocked on the Bill. Under the constitution, if the Senate does not agree to the Commons' version, Bill C10(b) will die and the animals will be denied legal protection from cruelty.

Prime Minister, your government has worked hard to make sure the Bill becomes law. Only you can break the deadlock by persuading the Liberal Senators, who are in the majority, to pass Bill C10(b).I am asking you to personally intervene and make sure that the proposed amendments and increased penalties are reaffirmed by Parliament and passed by the Senate.

Parliament acted with compassion by passing Bill C10(b) in June. Everyone, except the Senate wants the Bill C10(b) passed, including the Members of Parliament who once opposed it. By talking to Liberal Senators and encouraging them to support the Bill as approved by the House of Commons, you will make a real difference for all those animals who are subjected to cruelty.
Sincerely,
